1. INTRODUCTION

Effective dissemination is essential in order to make sure that the project and its effects will be visible. The BIOART consortium will be disseminating the results of the project to multiple audiences, via different channels and at different intervals. The aim of this dissemination strategy is to maximize the impact, visibility and credibility of the project. The objectives of the strategy are as follows:

- Design, develop and regularly update a dedicated BIOART website.
- Share information about the project and publish its findings via both traditional media (e.g. press relation) and digital media (e.g. social media)
- Transfer knowledge to industry about changes in academic area - the creation of new training materials, educational resources and the new curricula.
- Support the development of a strategy for the exploitation.

The dissemination activities will be undertaken in accordance with General Data Protection Regulation - Regulation (EU) 2016/679 (EU GDPR).

2. DISSEMINATION STRATEGY

2.1.1 Dissemination & exploitation activities

The activities will address the following target groups and following events are organized:

- Event-based dissemination. The project will organized min 3 annual dissemination workshops to inform and engage with the national academic communities. The Final project Conference will address a broader audience bringing together additionally policy makers, NGOs, education authorities, other stakeholders important to the best practice proliferation in the countries.
- Web-based dissemination. The project website will serve as a major interface and community building platform. In addition to being a repository to all tangible outcomes (training and teaching materials, webinars, results of the Feasibility Study, Repository entry point, methodological materials, reference materials, etc.), it will enable community activities. On top of that, all partners will use other available web-based dissemination channels (own websites, mailing lists, community resources etc.). The information will be addressed to all target groups.
- Traditional dissemination. The project will produce the set of traditional promotional materials, it will publish major results in media (general public) and professional journals (academic community) and/ or conference presentations / posters. Additionally, the project will organize several briefing meetings with policy making stakeholders to enable a multiplier effect.

2.1.2 Exploitation planning and exploitation of the results

- The project will plan the exploitation (including how to bear running costs) of such principle outcomes as the set of developed methodological materials, the repository, the website, etc. for the period of min. 3 years after the project end.
- Exploitation nature: public nature - openly available for re-use.
- Involving into practical aspects of dissemination/exploitation: involving external stakeholders in Evaluation trial and in developing practical tutorials during workshops to ease external exploitation and uptake.
- Activities after the end of the project: continuing further dissemination, developing ideas for future cooperation, evaluating achievements and impact, contacting relevant media and contacting policy-makers on request. The important aspect will be cooperating with the European Commission by providing useful inputs to its dissemination and exploitation efforts.
